Cookie Policy

This website uses cookies required to operate and use this site. Below you will find an explanation on our cookie usage.

What are cookies

Cookies are small text files which a website may put on your computer or mobile device when you first visit a site or page. The cookie will help the website, or another website, to recognise your device the next time you visit. There are many functions cookies serve, for example they can help us to remember your username and preferences.

What do we use cookies for

We're using cookies for the following purposes:

- Login: Once you login to our website, a cookie is set containing your encrypted credentials, required to recognize you between page visits. You can disable this cookie by unchecking "Remember me" in the login form.
- Session: Upon first visit of our website, the system will create a new unique session for you which will be saved using a cookie on your computer. Sessions are required to recognize users between page accesses. It is a temporary cookie which will be deleted once you close your internet browser.
- Third-Party Services: Displayed ads or sharing content through social networks or comparable actions might cause a cookie created by them.
